Verbal complaints procedure:

Any verbal complaint will be acknowledged and we will request further information from you in order to try and resolve the complaint by phone. If the complaint is resolved on the phone then a follow up email will be sent to you confirming the discussion and detailing any actions taken/to be taken.

A record of the conversation and follow up email would be confidentially recorded on our client database.

If it's apparent that the complaint is more complex then we would request a written complaint from you in order that we may investigate in more detail.

Written complaints procedure:

We will acknowledge your complaint in writing within 48hrs of receipt and commence our investigations. We will notify you of your point of contact for the duration of the complaint process. We are committed to resolving your complaint within 14 calendar days and during this time your point of contact may be in touch for additional information, documentation or clarification on the issues you have raised. During the 14 day investigation process we will keep in regular contact with you to inform you on the progress on your complaint and advise of any updates. Within 14 calendar days we will let you know the outcome of our investigations in writing. On the rare occasion that we need to extend our investigation period we will agree a new timescale with you and confirm this in writing.

We will confirm the outcome of our investigations to you in writing within 14 days and detail our decision on whether or not we uphold your complaint. We would request that you acknowledge our findings and confirm whether or not you agree with our final decision. If you do not accept our initial decision then we will carry out further investigations and again, this process will take a further 14 calendar days. At the end of this period we will provide you with our final decision on your complaint. In the unlikely event that you still don't agree with our decision then you can request a 'deadlock' letter from us, this letter is required in order for you to raise the complaint with the Energy Ombudsman. If we are unable to resolve your complaint to your satisfaction then we will issue a deadlock letter eight weeks after your initial complaint is registered or after you reject our second decision stage judgement.

Ombudsman complaint procedure

The Energy Ombudsman is a free independent service for microbusinesses, they will assist in determining the outcome of your dispute. If you are not a microbusiness then you would need to seek legal advice should you wish to further escalate the complaint. In addition, the Citizens Advice Bureau is available for practical advice – www.citizensadvice.org.uk If you are a microbusiness, have followed all the steps above and have been unable to reach a satisfactory resolution to your complaint with us then you are entitled to complain to the Ombudsman.

Please note that the Ombudsman will not deal with your complaint without a deadlock letter.
